

The wages of sin we believe have not been reduced on account of the hard times.

A man who is "in the hands of his friends" has a good chance of starving to death.

Women may become lawyers, but women cannot sit on juries. They could never agree.

Some people never realize what the lower walks of life are until they get on them.

Kearney has one eye single to the happiness of his followers: The other eye is closed on account of a row in the family.

A woman in London has paid 200 in fines for drunkenness. When a woman will, she will, regardless of expense.

An Illinois dog surgeon advertises under the name of "Mohamed." We suppose that if the dogs don't go to him he will go to the dogs.

Women voted at the polls in Concord, N. H., at the recent election for members of the Board of Education. A recent law of the state gave them privilege, and it was improved by about 150. There were nine tickets in the field and no choice.

Recent cable dispatches state that the famine in Upper Egypt causes terrible suffering. In some villages the people are naked like beasts and dig for roots. In one town the women and children fought over scraps of bread. The inland villagers are said to be starving like dogs.

The Library Magazine for March will be ready on the 26th—not dated in advance, as is the custom—its contents being mainly from the foreign publications of same date, thus giving what is newest in the literary world. $1.00 a year, or 10 cents a number. American Book Exchange, Publishers, N. Y.

The Death-rate of Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting from the most insignificant origin.

At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late, that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boscue's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boscue's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.
